what is required of a user when forking a tool/model/methods?
your name:

(what should we provide users to be able to adapt the tools to their context)

- take a tool/model/method that you are familiar with
- understand the designers' design choices and intentions
- choose a different context than their intentions
- try to make adjustments to make it useful for other context
- reflect on things needed to be done in the translations process